Dear Ms. Hesse:

As a small business owner, I don't want the government telling me how to run my business - but I understand the validity of the antitrust lawsuit against Microsoft. I also understand that the lawsuit has stretched out to four years - and has cost taxpayers $35 million.

I don't want my tax money going to waste - I want to see it go to help our schools and our healthcare system. I would also like to see it help end the energy crisis - something that directly impacts my business. So that's why I'm writing to support the proposed consent decree between Microsoft and the Department of Justice.

From my understanding, it has a little something for everyone - the major issues against the company are addresses without preventing Microsoft from innovating new technology or responding to the needs of its customers.

Let's put this lawsuit behind us and get on with the nation's business. Feel free to call me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Joseph Harvey
Owner
